DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The lengthy specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3, 5 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by FR 2487120.

As to claims 1 and 8, FR 2487120 discloses the claimed subject matter, the claimed electron gun is met by the monocanon 2 (Fig. 3 and abstract), the claimed first picture display unit including a phosphor is met by the color compound covering a region (one of S1-S6) (see Fig. 1 and abstract), and the claimed second picture display unit including another phosphor is met by the color compound covering a region (other one of S1-S6) (see Fig. 1 and abstract).

As to claims 2 and 3, the claimed features are disclosed by FR 2487120 (Fig. 1 and abstract).

As to claim 5, the claimed subject matter is disclosed by FR 287120 (Fig. 1).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over FR 2487120 in view of Utsumi (5418075).

As to claim 4, FR 2487120 does not show the thermal transfer printing. However, Utsumi teaches the phosphor screen which is provided by the thermal transfer foil. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify FR 2487120 by using the thermal transfer foil in the phosphor as taught by Utsumi in order to reduce the manufacturing cost of the phosphor and to obtain a constant film thickness.

4. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cohn in view of FR 2487120.

Cohn discloses the claimed subject matter, the claimed front-door intercom is met by the doorbell/intercom 12 and the TV camera 14 and TV receiver 16 (Fig. 1, column 2 lines 8-18), the claimed subsidiary apparatus which includes image pickup apparatus is met by the doorbell/intercom 12 and the TV camera 14 (Fig. 1, column 2 lines 8-18) and the claimed master apparatus including a display unit is met by the TV receiver 16 (Fig. 1, column 2 lines 12-18). Cohn also shows the CRT of television receiver. Cohn does not show the detailed CRT as recited in claim 1. However, FR 2487120 shows the detailed CRT as claimed in claim 1 (see paragraph 2). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Cohn by utilizing the CRT as taught by FR 2487120 to display the video signals of camera.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claim 7 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Elberbaum (5923363) discloses an apparatus for powering a television interphone monitor via a signal transmission line.

Beatty (5091718) shows a color-monochrome visual display device.
